This session will review strategies for school administrators to work effectively with employees using the McGrath SUCCEED with TRUE-SPEAK Communication System. This framework unites the legal rights and responsibilities in the workplace with the human dynamics present in everyday life. The focus is to improve the ability of administrators' ability to think, listen, speak, write and act in a manner that produces outstanding results to transform supervision, evaluation, problem-solving and communication system-wide.

This session will examine: 1) how to properly document challenges and successes, 2) strategies for how to take prompt action, and 3) how to communicate clearly with employees to build a thriving culture.

Participants who attend this session will learn skills to build stronger oral and written communication with employees and help build more effective learning environments.
