Understanding Attention Issues

Wednesday, April 12, 2023

8:30-11:30 am or 12:00-3:00 pm

Presenter: Barbara Piper, M.A.

TAP Consultant

Do you experience students who have attention issues? Do you understand what specific skills attention requires? Are you looking for effective strategies to engage these students in learning? This session will address those issues and more by exploring the following:

- neurology and construct of attention,
- characteristics of attention “disorders / ADD / ADHD,”
- myths about attention “disorders, ADD, /ADHD,”
- effective strategies for supporting cognitive performance and social interaction of students exhibiting attention issues.

This training is applicable to educators working in general education and special education, school-based student oriented programs, administrators, support staff and paraprofessionals.
