Presented by Juan Portley, Ph.D.

Research throughout the last two decades has allowed school programs to examine effective transition practices for secondary students. This presentation will explore effective practices for transition program components, as well as help understand both local and national data on postsecondary outcomes for students with disabilities. Professionals in both middle and high schools will have the opportunity to do a quality check on their own transition preparation for students with disabilities.

This PD will be useful for any middle or high school staff who assists with developing transition plans and programming for student with disabilities as they prepare for postsecondary settings.

The PM session is the same as the AM session. A Survey will be posted in the zoom chat at the end of the presentation. You must complete the survey to receive a Certificate of Completion. You can join the PM session if you miss part of the AM session.
